How Pearls Are Made

Pearls are the only jewels in the world that are made by a living animal—an oyster, a type of shellfish. But natural pearls are very rare. In fact, only one in ten thousand oysters has a pearl naturally.

So, how are most pearls made? They are grown in special pearl farms. Kamoka Pearl Farm, on the tiny Pacific island of Ahe, grows Tahitian pearls. Tahitian pearls are called black pearls, although they are also green, dark red, or blue. The pearl farmers collect very young oysters from the ocean. They open each oyster carefully and put a very small piece of seashell inside it. Then, they put the oysters back into the ocean in large plastic nets. The nets keep them safe from other ocean animals. As the oysters get bigger, "nacre" begins to grow around the piece of shell. Nacre is the material that makes the pearl. The oysters aren't opened for about two years. Finally, when they are ready, the pearls are taken out.

People travel from all around the world to work at the Kamoka Pearl Farm. It's on a beautiful island, with clean, warm ocean all around it, and the visitors can learn how to make one of the most beautiful jewels in the world.

We can find out all about the world. We don't have to go far away. Let's look at the things at home and at school and think about where they are made.

Let's have a cup of coffee. It's a delicious drink, you know. Coffee comes from coffee beans. But where are coffee beans grown?

My Favorite Possession

My favorite possession is a lovely, Italian paperweight. A paperweight is a small, heavy object that is put on pieces of paper. It keeps all the pieces in one place. My paperweight is made of glass, and it has a lot of tiny, brightly colored flowers inside it.

I keep my paperweight on the top shelf in my bedroom. I have a naughty little sister, so I have to make sure that it's safe from her!

Sometimes I take it down from the shelf and hold it up in front of my window. I like to see the way the sun shines through the glass.

I love this paperweight because it's beautiful. I also love it because it was a present from my uncle Dan, who lives in Italy. He visits us every summer, and he always brings something wonderful or interesting from Italy. Last year, he brought some delicious Italian cakes, but the paperweight is my favorite present from him.
